

China Gas Market Service

Our China Gas Market Service is a comprehensive source for up-to-date data and analysis on gas market fundamentals, competitor strategies and policy analysis. The service is both forward-looking and data-heavy to meet all your analytical needs, helping you understand important trends and opportunities. Addressing both country-level and more granular, local market developments, this service is a valuable resource for anyone involved in gas market analysis, strategic development, long-term planning or financial analysis.

---

*Trusted analysis and data on China's rapidly-changing
gas market fundamentals, competitive landscape and policy environment*

---

At a Glance

The service delivers analytical reports in PowerPoint presentations, data in Excel and concise commentaries in PDF, and includes year-round access to our team of analysts in Beijing.

Forecasts and Forward-Looking Insight

Ten-year forecasts for gas supply by source (conventional, imports, SNG, CBM, shale) and gas demand by sector, with analysis on drivers and challenges

Timely Analysis on National, Regional and Local Gas Markets

Monthly Gas Market Update highlighting key changes and trends that you need to know

LNG and Pipeline Import Monitor

Import volumes and pricing data, and company gas import procurement progress and strategies

Gas Pricing Report and Prices Database

Prices along the value chain, gas pricing policy analysis and up-to-date notes on implementation

Risked Gas Infrastructure Database, Analysis and Maps

Covering existing and future pipelines, LNG terminals and storage

Responsive SIA Commentary

Topical, insightful commentary on key issues across the gas value chain, policy and competition

How the China Gas Market Service can help you

- Analyze China's future gas supply-demand balance and implications on your business
- Develop business strategies based on country and local gas market analysis
- Identify and assess future opportunities and potential partners
- Understand what changes in policy and the competitive landscape can mean for you
- Have a realistic outlook on China's rapidly developing gas infrastructure and import capacity
- Understand China's domestic gas supply potential, import need and procurement strategy

Why SIA Energy

Founded in Beijing, covering the Chinese oil and gas sector is our primary focus

Our team interacts regularly with policy makers and industry players—state-owned and private, large and small, foreign and domestic

Whether sending out timely commentary on market developments or promptly responding to your inquiries, we understand time is important

In both our analysis and follow-up to client inquiries, we aim to provide you with the most up-to-date and business-relevant insights

About SIA Energy

Unparalleled insight — from China, for China

SIA Energy is a professional services firm providing insightful analysis on the Chinese energy market, policy and company strategies. We advise on the entire oil and gas value chain of activities for foreign firms looking to enter or grow in China and Chinese firms expanding abroad.

Active in the oil and gas industry, we interact daily with market players and policy makers. Our Beijing team of internationally-experienced professionals is dedicated to providing clients with local insight and perspective that is supported by trusted data and adds unique value to your business.

Contact Us

visit us

China Central Place #4-1602
89 Jianguo Road
Beijing 100025, China

www.sia-energy.com

call us

+86 10 6530 7010

email us

contact@sia-energy.com